Dear Madam

Among the number of your friends, who sincerely regret your departure from this city, the members of the Boston Female Anti-Slavery Society would rank themselves. As individuals, we mourn the separation from a respected friend; as a Society we deplore the loss of a valuable officer. Permit us then at parting to express to you our thanks for your past services, and wishes for your future prosperity. You have had the pleasure of seeing the infant association which you assisted in forming; grown up under the smiles of Him who will not despise the day of small things, and we trust that in the influence which it will exert in breaking the fetters of physical, intellectual, and moral slavery, its goodness will receive ample remuneration for all their labors. Your heart will be cheered by the intelligence, that at our last meeting we adopted examples to precept, in our opposition to that bitter prejudice against our colored friends, which yet rankles in the breasts of Christians; by passing a resolution to invite our colored sisters to become members of our Society. From this union we anticipate the happiest results. You will, no doubt, congratulate us, my dear Madam, for our discovery, that when we would take a mote from our brother's eye, it will greatly facilitate the work, first to extract the beam from our own.

It is my pleasant duty to inform you, that at the meeting alluded to, a resolution was passed, to procure for you a life membership in the New-England Anti-Slavery Society. We beg you to accept it as a monument of our respect, and esteem. In the name of the Society, Madam, I present you our thanks for
